

Having it All: A STEM Work-Life Workshop

Sponsored by the Graduate School and the Association for Women in Science

Patterns in scientific authorship and approaches to achieve equity

Dr. Shannon McCauley

Thursday, Nov. 15 at 11:00am-12:20

Gearhart 102

Join us for a short workshop on co-authorship bias and its effect on your career trajectory. Workshop will be followed by a pizza social in GEAR 258 (the 2nd floor honor's lounge).

All are welcome: undergrad, grad, postdoc, staff and faculty.

Dr. McCauley is a professor at University of Toronto Mississauga, and was on the Faculty of 1000 list. Dr. McCauley will discuss issues of authorship and co-authorship, including who is and is not offered co-authorship and how this affects career trajectories. She has been working with a graduate student pursuing research in this area and will discuss steps to take towards improving equity.

Sign-up is appreciated to ensure pizza supplies, but not required for attendance.

Sign-up @ www.surveymonkey.com/r/Y9LSM7P